

An Analysis of Affordable and Sustainable Housing

Emily Gee & Hong Tu

Why is housing important?

- ◆ Physiological need (Maslow's hierarchy)
- ◆ Community and belonging
- ◆ Family
- ◆ Opportunities for education and jobs

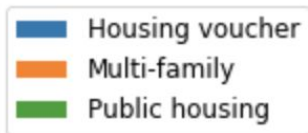

Exploratory Analysis

4.6 million

Number of households that HUD provides rental subsidies to annually

50.8%

Trends

	Minority	Poverty
2009	45.4 %	18.9 %
2014	53.5 %	15.2 %
2018	53.6 %	24.0 %

Models

Logistic Regression

Goals

- ◆ Indicate significant predictors of the different program types
- ◆ Classify households into program type based on their characteristics

Logistic Regression

- ◆ Significant predictors
 - ◇ Elderly head of household, race of head household
- ◆ Program-specific predictors
 - ◇ Gender (housing choice voucher)
 - ◇ City type, Hispanic percentage (multi-family)

Logistic Regression

- ◆ Accuracy: 53.9%
- ◆ Sensitivity: 14.7%

	y_pred
y_true	1	2	3
1	368	1401	737
2	222	4771	1212
3	236	1949	1829

Classification Tree

- ◆ Accuracy: 57.6%
- ◆ Sensitivity: 22.5%

	y_pred
y_true	1	2	3
1	564	1254	688
2	314	4685	1206
3	252	1681	2081

Conclusions

Inferences and Conclusions

- ◆ Public housing decreasing, multi-family (private) housing increasing
- ◆ Poverty levels in HUD areas increasing
- ◆ Demographics of head of household most significant for predicting program type

Next Steps

Plan for Action

- ◆ Further understand groups at a more individual level
- ◆ Develop more accurate classification methods
- ◆ Anticipate needs for each program type to better cater to individual households

An aerial photograph of a modern architectural complex. The central feature is a large, circular courtyard filled with lush green trees and plants. Surrounding this courtyard are several buildings, including a prominent one with a green roof. The entire scene is framed by soft, white clouds, giving it a dreamlike or ethereal quality. The word "SUSTAINABILITY" is overlaid in large, white, bold letters across the center of the image.

SUSTAINABILITY

Sustainability Pillars

1. Environmental
 - a. Higher quality housing
 - b. Living conditions
2. Economic
 - a. Access to jobs
 - b. Disposable income to stimulate local economy
3. Social
 - a. Build communities
 - b. Better school districts
 - c. Health
